after 1 September 1951, all lubricants are to be assigned standard symbols. The barrels containing the lubricants need only be marked with symbols; however, delivery documents and invoices have to be more detailed. The producing plant is not to be indicated.

the markings of barrels, such as a red stripe on barrels which contain sensitive oils.

the new symbols that are to be used, with an explanation what each stands for, e.g. Öl SP,D 26/20 = spindle oil, distilled, 2,6/20 viscosity, from Luetzkendorf. [The first two digits of each symbol seem to indicate the producing plant, e.g. 01 - Luetzkendorf, 43 - Zeitz, 51 - Buna, etc.]

Comment These symbols are to be used to prevent the supplying plants from becoming known outside the distributing organization.
